TO MY SISTER.

Sister, though I'm far from thee,
In a strange and distant land,
Dost thou oft-times think of me,
Lonely, far from home and friend?
When the glorious moon appears,
Clothed in robes of golden light
Fading twilight, moons, and stars,
Tinging earth with beauties bright;
And thy gentle spirit mase
On thy brother, far away?
Or does memory's dream infuse
Valours of a brighter day?
When, in childhood's brighter day,
Loud our happy voices rang,
Mingling with our sportive play,
As with mirthful glee we sang;
When the evening's falling light
Shone on earth a softer shade,
Darkening, deepening into night,
Like roan's beauty, born to fade—
So thy thoughts, as wandering round,
Occupied with father, mother,
Make thy heart with pleasure bound,
As they rest upon thy brother?

Brave Editor.

Aside from being one of the best editors in Arizona, Judge Hackney of the Silver Belt, is a very brave one, for in his paper of the 13th, he adversely criticizes that great warrior and omniscient statesman—Gen. W. T. Sherman. And here is the way he does it:
Gen. Sherman was recently in Arizona, saw little of it, and swallowed all that was told him by parties interested in having the Indians placed under military management, as true and gave currency to their prejudice through the agency of newspaper interviews. The General also gravely informed the Secretary of War that Arizona is threatened with an Indian war, and he, with apparent sang-froid, dishes this bomb and sets it up as one of the convincing reasons why Congress should augment the army. Arizona is interested in denying the statement. She is just now feeling the influence of the tide of immigration. The report from the commanding officer of the army that he is apprehensive of an Indian war here, if not shown to be without foundation, will turn hundreds of persons in other and less favored directions, to the detriment of the material interests of Arizona.
Gen. Sherman, on the 3d instant, in a communication to the joint commission on the transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department, among other things, quite as illogical, says: "With reference to the proposition of the Indian Bureau to arm young bucks as soldiers or policemen, the idea was inadvisable and simply arming a bitter enemy."
This to an Arizonan, where the efficiency of "buff soldiers" is so well established, will have a tendency to cast uncharitable remarks, and perhaps even question the General's sanity.

Globe City Items.

From the Silver Belt of the 13th instant:

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hise, celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage on the 10th instant, with large party and a good time. The editor of the Belt intimates that after considerable patience and labor, he once more in this struggling life got something to eat.

The machinery for the McMillen Company's mill is expected to arrive about the 15th of next month.

C. L. and H. Metzger have gone out to a point near the mouth of the San Pedro river to open up a mine; they own there. They like the general mining outlook of that region.

The eight and a quarter tons of ore from the Milner and Watson mines we spoke of last week as being at the Miami mill for reduction, yielded $458 per ton.

Lieut. West arrived here Saturday last and departed next morning for San Carlos Agency, in command of a detail of United States cavalry and a company of San Carlos Indian scouts. He returned to Globe yesterday, having enlisted a new company of picked men—McHaves and Yumas.

It is reported here that a Mexican was killed by Indians in the State of Chihuahua while engaged in carrying mesquite from a distillery. The Indians got drunk on the mesquite, and while in that condition were discovered and fourteen of them killed. This report was brought to Camp Thomas by a squaw, who with her child escaped at the time of the killing. She is now at the San Carlos Agency.

The Indian Bureau Transfer a Failure.

WASHINGTON, December 11.—Among the most active workers in Congress for the transfer of the Indians to army management, was Representative Seales, who was a member of the Commission to examine the advisability of the transfer, and also a leading advocate of a change in the present Commission. Now it is said the array of evidence against the transfer has overcome his convictions, as also those of Senator Saunders, and they agree that it would be unwise to make the change. Practically the whole Commission is believed opposed to it.

WASHINGTON, December 11.—The Indian Transfer Commission today heard Secretary Stickney, of the Peace Commission, who gave his views in opposition to the transfer.

It is tough to be poor, but to be ashamed of it is putting salt on a sore.

Yuma Items.

From the Sentinel of last Saturday:

The locomotive was to reach Gila City last night.

Mr. Nolan is to come from Prescott to be Chief Quartermaster's clerk at Yuma Depot.

A rumor reaches us that Louis Rodepoch, indicted for robbing the mail near Wickenburg, last April, in company with James Rhodes and John Mullen, has been captured in Kansas.

Mr. Charles Baker has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused in the Board of Supervisors of Yuma county, by the resignation of David Balz.

Quite a nobby car came in yesterday; it is intended for an office for the freight agent at the end of the track, and will be pushed forward as the road progresses.

Lange is at Gila City making preparations for considerable work on his quartz mine. He took several hundred pounds of samples to San Francisco, for assay. The average of the lot was $38 per ton.

A neat picket fence and gate has been placed around the Protestant cemetery. Much credit is due Dr. DeCourse for his endeavors to accomplish this end, which has been carried out by subscriptions.

Lewis, the wife murderer, whose sentence was commuted by the Governor, through mistaken mercy, to incarceration for life, escaped from the penitentiary about 3 p. m. on the 11th. Up to the time of going to press we do not hear of his recapture.

A notice appears in another column calling a special term of the District Court by order of Judge DeForest. It is a petition of James Reilly, to contest the election of H. N. Alexander, as District Attorney, and of George Tyng, as Recorder.

We are told Mr. Reilly says citizens have subscribed to defray the expenses, etc., but as he has not paid the fees due in the very incipency of the action, even the filing of his petition, not being yet paid, neither the order convening the court, nor the advertisement referred to, and is moreover delinquent in paying the fees in other cases, the clerk of the District Court is "corrupt" and "wicked" enough to refuse to do any more work till payment is made. Like many other actions brought, these are instigated by personal enmity and malice alone.

Large quantities of freight have left Yuma during the week for Tucson, Tombstone, and other points in Pinal county.

The Sentinel favors an insolvent law by the ensuing legislature, owing to the repeal of the national bankrupt law.

Good Results from Great Afflictions.

A New Orleans dispatch of December 5, says on that evening a mass meeting, composed mainly of influential citizens, was held at the Varieties Theatre, and adopted resolutions expressing in the most eloquent and emphatic manner the gratitude of the city for the aid extended by various sections during the prevalence of the yellow fever, and denouncing those wicked men who would again, for selfish ends, arouse the clamors of sectional discord which these generous overflows has tended to allay forever. They continue: "We declare as our unanimous sentiment, with unaffected sincerity of grateful hearts, that no difference of political creed can weaken, and no evils of designing politicians sever, the ties which bind us by most sacred and tender memories in bonds of a national brotherhood, one and indivisible."

On the same day in the House of Representatives, Mr. Hooper, of Mississippi, said that generosity had broken down all the barriers of pride, had prostrated all the boundaries of section, and had made the people North and the people South feel that they were indeed bone of one bone, and of the same flesh and lineage. He said that the terrible affliction, when the hand of the fell destroyer was on the people South, the North and West had gone to their rescue with a large-hearted benevolence, which would never be forgotten by the afflicted people, whose gratitude could not find words to express itself.

GLOBE DISTRICT is not considered the liveliest section in Arizona; in fact, things are a little dull that way just now, and yet parties from the Rio Grande, who have visited the district, report business and business prospects there far ahead of New Mexico. There can be little doubt if Mr. Hesting and others succeed in their efforts to organize stock companies with abundant working capital. There is a bright future in store for Globe.

Hard Times in England.

LONDON, November 29.—A state of appalling distress and destitution exists among the mechanics and laborers of Sheffield in consequence of the business depression. Hundreds of persons are living in tenements, without clothing or furniture, which they have been forced to sell to procure food. They are without fuel, and depend upon the charity of their neighbors for subsistence.

Death of Henry Wells.

NEW YORK, December 11th.—Henry Wells, founder of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, died in Glasgow, Scotland, on Tuesday.

Gov. McCormick's Honors at Paris.

The telegraph has reported the closing exercises of the Paris Exposition and the honors bestowed upon Commissioner General McCormick. The Paris Gazette (in English) has reached us with details in this behalf.

The Gazette says:

Commissioner-General McCormick has been popular and energetic. His country has been unflinching, his patience indefatigable, and his energy boundless. It was but natural that the exhibitors should have wished in some way to show their appreciation of his efforts which have contributed in so marked a degree to the success of the United States section of the Exhibition.

A Committee of the American exhibitors soon raised over 8,000 francs with which two pieces of bronze were purchased and presented to Commissioner McCormick. The bronzes are statues of "Venus Armed" by Mr. Hebert, and the "Egyptian Priestess" by M. Falguiere. J. O. Woods made a highly complimentary speech in presenting the bronzes and Gov. McCormick replied in a very happy way, from which we make this extract:

In a wide field of competition, and under some disadvantages, we have received, in proportion to the number of our exhibits, more awards than any other nation participating in the Exhibition.

The Gazette says the names of all who contributed to the subscription for the purchase of the bronzes will be inscribed in a richly bound volume, which will be presented to the Commissioner-General.

In the same paper, we find a correspondence between the French Commissioner-General Krantz and Gov. McCormick regarding a concert given in the Trocadero Palace for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers. After deducting all expenses, there was left 12,065 francs which was sent to the Governor of Louisiana by Gov. McCormick.

In the same paper we find the names of the Americans decorated with titles, among which is that of Gov. McCormick who received the decoration of the "Legion of Honor." In reply the Governor said "that, as an officer of the United States, he could not bear the decoration without the consent of Congress. He, however, much appreciated the high compliment paid him by the French Government."

From the Salt River Herald of last Saturday:

Mr. Irvine has contracted for 150,000 brick for his new store building.

Commencing with the month of January, the Herald will be issued twice a week—every Wednesday and Saturday.

Persons having claims against the Arizona and New Mexico Express Company can learn the situation of the company's affairs by addressing C. W. C. Rowell, San Bernardino, California.

The Board of Supervisors were in session last Monday and Tuesday. Bills were allowed to the amount of about three thousand dollars. The time for the payment of taxes was postponed until December 24. A petition was granted asking for the formation of a school district at McMillen.

M. Wormser brought into this office one day this week a package of sugar made from cane raised in this valley, which we pronounced as fine an article as we ever tasted. This gentleman has a large sugar mill on the way from Yuma, and proposes to embark in the manufacture of sugar on an extensive scale.

A CORRESPONDENT of Albany, (N. Y.) Journal, relates the following incident of one of Henry Clay's visits to the State: "Clay went to Kinderhook to visit Mr. Van Buren. The town was filled with people from the surrounding country, and at a reception they were presented to Mr. Clay by Mr. Van Schaick, a prominent lawyer of the county. Among those who came to be introduced to Mr. Clay was a very beautiful young lady. It happened that just at the moment of presentation her name awkwardly slipped from Mr. Van Schaick's memory. His hesitation naturally embarrassed the young lady. Mr. Clay, perceiving this, came instantly to her rescue by saying in his chivalrous way: "Oh, the name is of no sort of consequence, for judging by the young lady's looks she will very soon change it."

Eventful day for Wade Hampton.

COLUMBIA, (S. C.) December 10.—Governor Hampton's leg was amputated today below the knee. His immediate friends say his condition is not dangerous. Governor Hampton was also elected to the United States Senate today. The vote in the Senate was unanimous. The House, with two exceptions, voted for Hampton. The exceptions were Miller and Simmons, colored members from Beaufort, who voted for Mackey.

SPEAKING OF trade in Mexico, Minister Zamacoena recently said: The Spanish merchants control the grocery business, Germans control the hardware business in all its branches, French merchants control the dry goods business, and the English, either directly or indirectly, control the cotton-goods market and some other branches of our foreign trade.

The Silver Agitation.

THE CITIZEN has heretofore expressed the hope that Congress would punish the National Banks which decline to receive silver coin on equal terms with gold and greenbacks, and already a bill has been introduced looking to that end. The Philadelphia Banks have refused to join the New York City concerns in the repudiation of silver, and Forney's Progress says the better judgment of the most enlightened financial authorities of New York—such men as August Belmont being cited as an example—is that the New York banks made a serious mistake in determining to establish a distinction between gold and silver deposits after resumption. They will eventually discover that the free use of silver will be of vital consequence to themselves, as well as to all the other banking institutions of the country, in any attempt that may be made to establish and maintain specie payments.

In this connection, the Cincinnati Commercial remarks: If we use silver it will drive out gold, say all the pretenders to the science of finance, who assume that there is but one metal that is real money. They never mention that France has $750,000,000 in lawful silver money, and that she has in addition more gold coin than any other nation of the earth.

Bullion Product of Montana.

W. C. Childs, Wells, Fargo & Co's agent at Helena, furnishes the Company with the following estimate of the gold and silver product of the Territory during the fiscal year, as shown by the shipments by express and other sources:

By Express

From

Helena $750,000

Butte 77,000

Deer Lodge 215,320

Virginia 416,000

Butte 63,150

Salt Lake and Lovell's 1,450

Amount carried over $1,081,920

Am't remaining in hands of banks 100,000

Silver in bars and bullion $550,000

Silver in ore (shipped) 400,000

Total $1,881,920

Grand total $2,881,920

Wearing Flannel.

Put on at once. Winter or summer, nothing better can be worn next the skin than a loose, red, woolen flannel shirt; "loose," for it has room to move on the skin, thus causing a circulation which draws the blood to the surface and keeps it there; and, when that is the case, no one can take cold; "red," for white flannel falls up, masts together and becomes tight, stiff, heavy and impervious; "woolen," the product of a sheep and not of a gentleman of color, not of cotton wool, because that merely absorbs the moisture from the surface, while woolen flannel conveys it from the skin and deposits it in drops on the outside of the shirt, from which the ordinary cotton shirt absorbs it, and, by its nearer exposure to the exterior air, it is soon dried without injury to the body.—[Hall's Journal of Health.

We have seen a letter from Mr. G. W. Myers, who is located in the mines about twelve miles west of Camp Supply. The letter is written in mild tones, but is full of cheer and encouragement. Mr. Myers speaks of his own claim which he says has a five foot ore vein and at a depth of ten feet assays have run from $100 to $400 per ton. An adjacent ledge is thirty feet in width and assays $100 per ton. The miners are in high spirits, full of faith in the future greatness of that district. The letter was not intended for publication nor for editorial comment, and therefore, we have all the more faith in the correctness of the statements. Not that our correspondents are in the least unreliable, but we know that miners sometimes get excited when writing for the press and overestimate their property.

About Bathing.

As a rule people doing hard physical labor do not bathe as much as they should. The daily bath is to them quite as important as to any class. It requires but a few moments to take it, and when followed by friction it fortifies the skin against colds and rheumatism more than almost anything else can do. A rubber mat which turns up at the edges to catch the water, a couple of quarts of pure water, a common sheet large enough to envelop the whole body, and plenty of friction are all that is necessary. One room in every farm-house should be kept for a bath-room and supplied with heat and these simple conveniences. Proper bathing keeps the muscles supple and elastic.

Tucson freight and passengers will no longer connect with the railway at Yuma, but from this day until another station is reached higher up the connection will be made at Oroville, twenty-six miles this side. The Exposition has been intimated that the shippers of freight who reside at Tucson would still, for some time yet, continue to ship their freight from Yuma by teams, but upon inquiry we learn that such is not the case, but to the contrary, all freights for Tucson will be carried to the end of the line for shipment.

Stimulating the Fifth Pair.

There are two nerves known as the fifth pair, which are distributed to the skin of the head, and to the mucous membrane of the eyes, nose, and mouth. These nerves are closely connected with the heart and vessels, and by stimulating their branches the circulation may be greatly influenced, as in the case of fainting. It is a curious fact that people of all nations are accustomed, when in any difficulty, to stimulate one or another branch of the fifth nerve, and quicken their mental processes. Thus, some persons, when puzzled, scratch their heads; others rub their foreheads, and others stroke or pull their beards, thus stimulating the occipital, frontal, or mental branches of these nerves. Many Germans, when thinking, have a habit of striking their fingers against their noses, and thus stimulating the nasal cutaneous branches, while in this country some people stimulate the branches distributed to the mucous membrane of the nose by taking snuff. The late Lord Derby, when translating Homer, was accustomed to eat branched cherries. One man will eat nuts while composing a leading article, another will suck chocolate cream; some will smoke cigarettes, and others sip brandy and water. By these means they stimulate the lingual and buccal branches of the fifth nerve, and thus reflexly excite their brains. Alcohol appears to excite the circulation through the brain reflexly from the mouth, and to stimulate the heart reflexly from the stomach, even before it is absorbed into the blood. Shortly after it has been swallowed, however, it is absorbed from the stomach, and passes with the blood to the heart, to the brain, and to the other parts of the nervous system, upon which it then begins to act directly. Under its influence the heart beats more quickly, the blood circulates more freely, and thus the functional power of the various organs in the body is increased, so that the brain may think more rapidly, the muscles act more powerfully, and the stomach digest more easily. But, with this exception, the effect of alcohol upon the nervous system may be described as one of progressive paralysis. The higher centres suffer first, and the judgment is probably the first quality to be impaired. One of the most esteemed novelists of the present day informs me that, although he can take a great deal of wine without its yet in any apparent effect on him, yet a single glass of sherry is enough to take the fire edge off his tongue, and he is able to write easily and fluently in the evening, after taking dinner and drinking wine; but what he then writes will not bear his own criticism next morning, although, curiously enough, it may seem to him excellent at the time of writing. As the effect of alcohol progresses, judgment becomes still further impaired, although the other faculties of the mind may remain, not only undiminished by the direct action of the alcohol upon the brain, but greatly increased by the general excitement of the circulation. The imagination may thus be more vivid than usual, and the emotions more lively, and it is, being more or less liberated from the control of the judgment, manifest themselves in sparkling wit, withering invective. Sheridan is said to have delivered his greatest speech under the influence of two bottles of champagne, which he had swallowed at a single draught; and persons of over cautious temperament, and reserved manners, the removal of the excessive restraint under which they habitually act renders them, for the time, more sociable and agreeable. By and by, however, the other parts of the nervous system are successively weakened; the tongue stammers, the vision becomes double, the legs falter, and the man falls insensible. It is evident, then, that only the first stages of alcoholic action are at all beneficial, the latter stages being as clearly injurious.—Dr. Lander Brunton in Contemporary Review.

McCrackin Mine.

Good news come us from this mine. Mr. Noyes, Assayer, Local Secretary and Superintendent, "ad interim," came down this week, en route for Prescott. He was quite jubilant, and says they have just struck a very rich ore body; that all the former employees have been paid in money, and everything looks favorable for future prosperity; some twenty men are now at work in the mine and the mill is expected to start up in February—Sentinel 14th.

The Arizona Mail Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 11th.—An order has been received from Washington changing the mail route from Tucson to Prudencia Wells, to Arivaca and the service has been increased to tri-weekly. Service has also been ordered between Ehrenberg and Mineral Park, and between Prescott and Hardyville. Seven new postoffices have been established in Arizona.

There is being manufactured at Chicago, a 100-stamp quartz mill for Arizona. What part of the Territory this mammoth mill goes to is not known to us, but we presume it goes to Southern Arizona. It seems that the capitalists of Chicago are awakening to their senses and see great inducements in mining investments out in Arizona.—Stock Report.

The Chicago Tribune says it is true that the price of silver has fallen in the markets of the world, but only with relation to gold. The Tribune has shown that the silver dollars of 412½ grains will today buy more of any marketable commodity, except gold, than it would on the day it was demonetized, when it was worth more in the market than the legal standard gold dollar.
